AEF Landing in N. Africa Forestalls Axis Invasion, Re-Opens Mediterranean

Crack U. S. Troops First to Arrive

Experts described this drive as perhaps the longest overwater military operation ever attempted. Crack U. S. combat troops, rangers (air borne units) and the best of American fliers were among the first to arrive.

However it was learned in London that newspapers there had known for some time that something of major importance was afoot as far as U. S. troops were concerned. The secret was well kept however. But the tip-off came several weeks ago when top-ranking officers of the American forces were not to be found at their usual stations.

According to one source many of the troops themselves didn't know where they were headed until a few hours before they began piling into their square nosed assault boats and headed for the beaches of Casablanca, Algiers and Oran.

Zero-hour came at dawn with landings being made at numerous points although they were several hundred miles apart. Troops from every state of the union were in the opening drive. First sign of action came to the French colonies when low-flying planes swooped over their cities and showered them with leaflets signed by General Eisenhower and containing President Roosevelt's plea to accept the U. S. action calmly and peacefully.

Then the marines set out in their barges, the Rangers started floating down onto Vichy territory with U. S. fighter pilots standing by to take over airfields captured by the ground troops or ready to strike out in their phase of the offensive.

In North Africa, Vichy had stationed some 150,000 troops, pledged to fight any invader.

President Roosevelt's Shortwave Broadcast

Here are some of the highlights from President Roosevelt's shortwave broadcast:

"Americans, with the assistance of the United Nations, are striving for their own safe future as well as the restoration of the ideals, the liberties, and the democracy of all those who have lived under the Tricolor.

"We come among you to repulse the cruel invaders who would remove forever your rights of self-government, your rights to religious freedom, and your rights to live your own lives in peace and security.

"We come among you solely to defeat and rout your enemies. Have faith in our words. We do not want to cause you any harm. We assure you that once the menace of Germany and Italy is removed from you, we shall quit your territory at once . . .

"The French government and the French people have been informed of the purpose of this expedition, and have been assured that the Allies seek no territory and have no intention of interfering with the friendly French authorities in Africa.

"The government of France and the people of France and the French possessions have been requested to co-operate with and assist the American expedition in its effort to repel the German and Italian international criminals and by so doing to liberate France and the French empire from the Axis yoke.

"This expedition will develop into a major effort by the Allied nations and there is every expectation that it will be successful in repelling the planned German and Italian invasion of Africa and prove the first historic step to the liberation of France."

General Eisenhower also issued a proclamation in which he assured the French in North Africa that the United Nations had only the objective "to defeat the enemy and to free France."

Broadcast in French, his message directed the French forces to "avoid any possible misunderstanding" by signalling their co-operation by methods he outlined . . . "By day, fly the French tri-color and the American flag, one above the other . . . By night, turn on a searchlight and direct it vertically towards the sky."

Large-Scale Action Launches 'Second Front'

When U. S. troops landed at Atlantic and Mediterranean ports of French North African colonies they effected the first big-scale American offensive of this war and thus was launched the much-sought "second front."

Intent on wiping out all Axis forces in North Africa and opening the Mediterranean to Allied shipping, these forces were expected to work with the British troops driving westward from Egypt. Caught in the middle of a gigantic pincer movement was the retreating Axis "Africa Corps" under the command of Nazi General Erwin Rommel.

First word of the opening of the drive by the Americans came when President Roosevelt's announcement of it was made over the shortwave radio beamed at Europe. Speaking in French, the President told the citizens of France that the armies of the United States were coming to them as friends and that their objective was to wipe out the enemies of their country.

LIEUT. GEN. EISENHOWER
"We come . . . as friends."

At the same time the war department in Washington issued a communique on the same subject.

The White House pointed out that the action was taken to forestall an Axis invasion of this French territory because such an invasion would "constitute a direct threat to America across the comparatively narrow sea from western Africa." Also this action was begun to provide "an effective second front assistance to our heroic allies in Russia."

In charge of the large contingent of U. S. troops (soon to be joined by strong British reinforcements) was Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of U. S. European land forces. His headquarters had formerly been in Britain. Assault landings were made under the cover of a huge naval and air armada. Thus the Axis got an answer to its "fishing for information" broadcasts of earlier in the week. These accounts reported heavy allied troop convoys gathering at Gibraltar and the Nazi intelligence wanted an answer from United Nations' sources. None was given and the reports were neither confirmed or denied until the President's message went on the air.

French Report Resistance To Landings

That the French were fighting back was first learned in this country when an official French communique announced that landing attempts had taken place and had been "repulsed" and "frustrated with heavy losses." First battles were reported by the French at Algiers and Oran.

Marshal Henri Philippe Petain Vichy-French chief of state, rejected President Roosevelt's plea to refrain from obstructing the U. S. action when he declared that "We are attacked and we shall defend ourselves. That is the order which I give."

Adm. Jean Francois Darlan immediately took charge of the defense for the French. He is commander in chief of all Vichy armed forces. First reports from the field reaching the newly established "Allied Headquarters in North Africa" indicated that the opening U. S. assault landings on the beaches of North Africa near two main objectives were successful.

Much evidence of careful planning was revealed in the clockwork arrival of all parts of the huge task force. While it was believed that most of the troops engaged in the maneuver had been stationed in Great Britain there was nothing to indicate the route taken nor the time of their departure from their training bases.

Forecast Developments

When military experts began to study the broad implications of this offensive it became clear that the first job would be put down any resistance on the part of the Vichy-controlled French. This had to be taken care of. Next came Rommel. It now became evident when the British forces began their full-scale campaign out of Egypt and started pushing the Germans and Italians back toward Libya they knew that there was something of a major nature brewing to the west.

160 Tons of Iron Leave Antioch to Strafe the Axis

Community Nearly Doubles 100-Ton Quota Since August 7

The 100 ton quota set for the recent drive for scrap was reached Saturday when the poundage of 201,814 lbs. was collected since the 7th of August when Mayor George B. Bartlett inaugurated the campaign and appointed C. L. Kutil chairman of the Antioch Salvage drive.

Previous to August 7, 118,000 lbs. were reported sold through the efforts of The Future Farmers association under the direction of C. L. Kutil and the Sheahan Implement company.

This makes a total to date of 319,814 lbs. or 160 tons of iron collected and sent on its way from Antioch.

Chairman Kutil states that by no means has the campaign ended. Old rubber, iron, and other metals are still being collected and people are urged to keep up the scrap hunt. Bring scrap to the Antioch High school or call Antioch 296 for a pick-up truck.

Tin Cans to Be Saved
A recent letter from headquarters states that people are to continue saving tin cans. Cans must be washed, labels removed, bottoms cut off, ends tucked in and the can flattened. Place in box or bushel basket and save for further instructions. Properly prepared tin cans may now be left at the Agriculture room at the Antioch High school.

Citizens of Antioch township and the village are to be congratulated upon the splendid work in reporting and turning in scrap.

DANCES TO AID RESCUE SQUAD AND FIREMEN'S FUNDS

Advance sales of tickets for the dance sponsored by the Antioch Rescue squad at Danish hall on the night of Nov. 20, and for the dance to be given by Antioch Firemen five days later, on Nov. 25, also at Danish hall, indicate a large attendance at both events, according to reports of committee members.

Acting as the committee for the promotion of the Rescue squad dance is the entire membership of 10 who are working under the direction of Capt. Herman Holshek. Men on the Rescue squad serve without pay, and the organization has no funds other than donations and proceeds derived from dances or other activities sponsored by the organization.

The committee on arrangements for the Firemen's dance is headed by Capt. Clete Vos, with Ed Frazier and Merrill Cunningham as assistants. Proceeds from the dance will go into the general fund and will be used for the purchase of equipment.

Both the Rescue Squad and the Fire Department are striving to bring their equipment and service to the highest point of efficiency in order to offer complete and efficient co-operation with the local civilian defense committee.

Street Lighting for Christmas Will Be Permitted in State

Chicago, Nov. 12—Decorative street lighting in Illinois communities will be permissible during the Christmas season, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, executive director of the Illinois State Council of Defense, said today pointing out that no dimout restrictions have been imposed in this state.

"Decorative street lighting is not of itself considered objectionable where no dimout regulations exist," Gen. Parker said, "provided in every case such lighting is installed so it can be quickly extinguished."

New equipment or wiring involving critical materials should not be purchased for decorative lighting, he said.

Game and Food Fish Booklet Now Available

Hundreds of requests are pouring into the offices of the Department of Conservation for copies of the Department's new 44-page booklet "Illinois Game and Food Fish," which is just off the presses and is being distributed free to the public. They may be had by writing the Illinois Department of Conservation, 121 State Capitol, Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Eichelberger of Chicago were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Simon.

TOO MANY "HELPERS"

Earns Airman's Wings

Robert A. Brogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brogan, 1014 Spafford st., Antioch, was among the fighter and bomber pilots who were awarded silver wings of full-fledged army airmen in the Gulf Coast training center Tuesday. An undisclosed number of pilots received their wings and commissions at the graduation exercises at Randolph field, Lieut. Brogan trained at Lubbock Flying field, Tex.

His parents and his brother, Roger and bride, were present at the graduation.

Will Open Army Recruiting Station Here For Two Days

A recruiting station for the U. S. Army will be open here for two days, next Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 18 and 19, in American Legion hall, Sergeant John E. Scheibe of the Waukegan Army Recruiting office, announced here today. Sgt. Scheibe was accompanied here by Cadet Edward A. Shasek, who has been detailed to recruiting work pending his assignment to training with the air forces.

Sgt. Scheibe said that every healthy young man who passes the age of 18 and is not yet 20 years old has an opportunity to choose any of the thirteen branches of army service.

"This choice is open," Sgt. Scheibe said, "because the army needs men of that age to build a balanced force. Young men have the makings of first class fighting men; they are quick, adaptable—they think and act fast; and young Americans have plenty of courage and daring."

The sergeant also pointed out that the country today faces its greatest peril; and he believes that young men will want to serve their country and have a share in the mightiest adventure of all time.

In charge of the local recruiting will be Cadet Shasek, who will advise those who seek service and will take the applications.

Application forms for the W. A. A. C.'s also will be available.

Carelessness Invites Defeat

U boats have cars on shore. If you know one thing about ship or troop movements keep it to yourself. One careless remark—picked up by enemy ears—may sink a ship.

Football Stars to Attend Grid Banquet Nov. 23

Smith, Hall, McMillen on Guest List at Testimonial Dinner

Bruce Smith, All-American football star who played in Minnesota's famous backfield last season; Harry Hall, who as quarterback for the University of Illinois used to call the signals for the famous Red Grange; and Jim McMillen, former teammate of Hall and Grange and All-American tackle, are among the football greats who will attend the testimonial dinner to be given on November 23 in honor of the Antioch Township High School team, 1942 champions of the Northwest conference. The dinner is sponsored by the Antioch Lions club, which also will provide the trophy to be presented to the team.

Both Smith and McMillen are now in the U. S. Navy. McMillen is athletic director at Navy Pier, Chicago. Harry Hall is now state's attorney of Lake county.

Plans for the dinner got under way Monday night at the Lions club dinner at Ray Prenger's resort at Grass Lake when Lions members were named to sponsor each of the 36 members of Coach C. A. Wolfenbarger's championship squad, and Dr. William Gay was appointed chairman of the banquet committee. He will be assisted by Attorney Edw. C. Jacobs and Dr. W. A. Biron.

Unique Displays Are Seen At Hobby Show

Many interesting displays, including model airplanes, old text books, buttons, knittings, quilts, needlework, scrap books, maps and even political scrap books were shown at the annual hobby show sponsored by the Antioch Parent-Teachers association at the Grade school Monday night.

First prize was awarded to Robert Simon and Russell Stowe for their model airplane, and second prize went to Mrs. Albert Norman for her display of old text books.

Among the speakers was Adjutant John L. Horan of the local American Legion post, who through the years has compiled a comprehensive record of community activities, political and other, wise, that will prove valuable to future generations. Another talk of interest was that by Mrs. George Garland, who has been collecting buttons for several years. Mrs. Garland brought a new interest to the lowly button, which many of her hearers heretofore had regarded as merely a commonplace necessity.

Refreshments were served to about 70 persons who attended and there were musical numbers by the grade school chorus.

COUNTY PTA TO MEET IN GURNEE

Meanwhile registrations on dates as previously announced will proceed in localities where there are enough ration books to permit registration to go forward.

Register Here Nov. 18, 19 and 20

Tire record and application forms for Basic Mileage Ration Book "A" or "D" (passenger automobiles or motorcycles) are now available at Antioch gasoline filling stations.

Owner residents of Antioch township, also residents of adjoining townships, if more convenient to do so, will register at the Antioch Grade school, corner Main and Depot streets, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 18 and 19, 2 at 9, and Friday, Nov. 20, 1 to 4 o'clock.

In order to save time in registering, the application must be filled out at home. Information calls for name and address, vehicle license number, state of registry, year model, make, body type and listing of serial numbers of tires mounted on the vehicle including one spare. Also asked for is information as to any additional tires including scrap tires over and above the mounted tires and one spare.

Owners must present their state auto registration card when registering.

School Will Close Early Next Week for Mileage Registrations

ing. If it is not possible for the owner to come in person, his representative must have owner's card, also the application form properly signed by the auto owner.

Applicants Get "A" Books
If a gasoline rationing book has not previously been issued or if not more than five tires are specified the application will entitle the holder to an "A" book for auto or "D" book for motorcycle.

Every car owner gets an "A" book. However, if he feels that he needs more gallonage, he should request such application from the school registrar, fill it out at home and present it to the local rationing board at Libertyville, which has jurisdiction on such requests.

Vehicles falling into one or more classes listed below are not eligible for "A" or "D" books. In such cases application for rationing should be made on another form to be obtained from local rationing board at Libertyville.

3. A taxi, jitney, or vehicle leased from or held for rental by a car agency.

A Dangerous Assumption

Too many people assume that an all-out war has to be fought by an all-out dictator government. This is not true. And it could never be true because modern war requires gigantic production and governments are not producers. At best, they can force the citizen to produce under compulsion, after the citizen has failed to do so for one reason or another.

America is outproducing Europe's slaves because free men are doing the job. If they are allowed to finish the war as such, there is not the slightest doubt as to the outcome. Victory will be ours. Our industries are rolling at an unheard-of pace. But they could do even more if bureaucrats and the people would once and for all realize who must keep mines and factories going full blast. Let government place the orders under proper supervision—American industry will do the rest.

Our armament and plane makers, our utilities, our railroads have proved they can accomplish miracles. The oil industry has been ready for months to begin production of synthetic rubber, awaiting only the "go" signal from officialism. Our metal and timber resources are being utilized to the fullest by the ingenuity of private management, and the coal industry has provided the nation with the biggest stock pile of fuel in history.

All of these things have been and are being done by private citizens. They, and not the bureaucrats, should get the credit.

They Might Be Alive Today

Admiral Moreell, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Yards and Docks, in an address to the American Federation of Labor convention at Toronto, put the American workmen—and labor leaders—squarely on the spot. Among other things, he told the workers that "you cannot have your cake and eat it too. You exist by virtue of the fact that this is a democratic country and, therefore, you have to preserve and protect democratic institutions. When the country is in peril, as it is today, all rules must be relaxed or waived completely. It is just as sensible for you fellows to take the position that a brick mason cannot, in time of emergency, help out with the placing of a steel beam, as it is for a marine to take the position that, because he is trained as a machine gunner, he cannot use a rifle or unload a landing boat. What a hell of a war this would be if such rules were applied to the boys on the firing line."

"...no one can live without labor, but they certainly can live without labor unions. They are living without them in Germany and in Italy, and in Japan. ...and they will damn well live without them here if all of you don't get in there and pitch."

Here are the sentiments of millions of Americans. They are written on the wall in the blood of American soldiers, sailors and airmen who have died because strikes and slowdowns in vital industries reduced our production of the machines of war—men who would have been living today had they but received a new plane, a tank, a gun.

Blunt Truth

Agriculture is one of our most essential industries, but it remains the orphan of the war effort, notwithstanding the political uproar that has surrounded its problems.

Manpower is the most critical of these problems, plus a lack of faith by the dirt farmers in the ability of the Washington swivel-chair farmers.

The Dairymen's League Cooperative association of New York recently published some figures relative to thousands of producers going out of business, that make grave reading for the consumer. The blunt truth is that our farmers either will be given the opportunity to produce, or we will starve. And if we wait much longer, we will suffer severely because it takes years to replace a good milk cow that has been slaughtered for beef.

Rommel Rout Lifts Middle East Menace, Paves Way for Drive in Mediterranean; WPB 'Budget' Plan Speeds War Output; Allies Drive Japs Back in New Guinea

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union

With Allied forces in New Guinea steadily pushing the Japs back to their seaport bases, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's recent tour of inspection was a happy occasion. The Pacific commander in chief is shown riding in the front seat of a jeep, while in the rear seat, scrutinizing the troops in Gen. Thomas Blamey, commander of Australian land forces.

NORTH AFRICA:

Rommel Rout

Wily Marshal Rommel's North Africa corps had been driven back on previous occasions. But never before had its reverses reached the proportions of a disastrous rout.

Yet rout it was as Lt. General Montgomery's British Eighth army climaxed a 13-day slashing drive by shattering Rommel's Egyptian defense line and pursuing his fleeing armies back along the coastal road toward Libya.

The decisive nature of the Nazi's defeat was indicated by General Montgomery's statement that the Allied desert offensive had resulted in a "complete and absolute victory" and that the Axis was "completely finished" in North Africa. Such a victory would mean a freeing of the Mediterranean and the chance to strike at the Axis soft spot—Italy.

Military experts pronounced the defeat the worst the Axis had yet suffered. Unofficial estimates placed Axis losses at 40,000 troops killed, wounded or captured. A Cairo communique reported the capture of 9,000 Axis troops.

The extent of the Allied victory was further indicated by the fact that 260 Axis tanks were knocked out, 270 heavy guns destroyed, 600 Axis planes downed and 100,000 tons of shipping crippled. A communique reported that Italian troops had suffered so severely in one sector they had asked for a truce to bury their dead.

Yanks Keep Coming

While Allied planes had harassed the retreating Axis forces and land units pushed forward, it was officially revealed that 7,000 fresh American troops had arrived in Egypt. These units comprised ground crews for the air forces, technicians, engineers and members of the quartermaster's corps.

Thus had the Axis threat to the Alexandria naval base and the Suez canal been removed. Gone, too, was the menace of a junction of Rommel's armies with the Nazi forces threatening the Middle East via Trans-Caucasia.

NEW GUINEA:

Japs in Reverse

Three key points remained in Jap hands in northern New Guinea. Only by their capture would the Allied forces claim control of the area. These were Buna, Lae, and Salamaua—all seaports.

Allied troops had made a good start by recapturing the inland base of Kokoda only 50 miles from Buna, after a hard-fought drive over the crest of the Owen Stanley mountains. This latest Allied success underscored the quick-change character of the war, for only five weeks before the Japs had been within 32 miles of Port Moresby.

That the Japs did not underestimate the dangers of their present position was shown by their attempt to land two transports with 7,000 soldiers at Buna to bolster their retreating forces. Allied heavy and medium bombers prevented the landing and drove the convoys off.

AXIS SPY-HUNT:

Latin America Acts

As a far-reaching cleanup of Axis espionage in Latin America was under way with the deportation by the Chilean government of 12 German and Italian agents, a report detailing the operations of the spy ring responsible for the torpedoing of United Nations ships was made public by the Advisory Committee for the Political Defense of the American Nations. The report was issued in Montevideo, Uruguay.

WAR MATERIALS:

New Allotment Plan

The United States moved closer to total war economy with civilian production cut to the vanishing point when War Production Chief Donald M. Nelson announced the genesis of a "Controlled Materials Plan."

Under the plan's operation, scarce materials will be strictly budgeted to uses that will harm the Axis the most. Production generally will be limited to military needs, shut-downs will be prevented, the output of war commodities stepped up and nonessentials eliminated.

So drastic will the control be that allotments of steel for civilian use in 1943 may represent only 1 1/2 per cent of the nation's total steel production, according to Leon Henderson, director of the Office of Civilian Supply. The civilian share of copper will be less than three-quarters of 1 per cent.

WPB Chief Nelson said war production would reach its peak by July, 1943.

ELECTIONS:

All Eyes on 1944

Politicos turned their eyes toward 1944 as they pondered the results of the wartime national elections.

To Republicans the results were far above their highest expectations. Not only did the GOP capture four governorships and nine senate seats from the Democrats, but they gained 43 seats in the house of representatives in an upsurge that rolled from coast to coast.

The result was that the Democrats controlled the house by the precarious margin of 8 votes—a margin so slim that any coalition could upset it. The lineup was: Democrats, 220 seats; Republicans, 208; Progressive, 2; and Farmer-Labor and American-Labor, 1 each. In the senate the Democrats retained a majority of 18, holding 50 seats to the Republican's 38.

Significant among Republican victories was the election of Thomas E. Dewey as governor of New York. It marked the first time in 20 years the opposition party had carried the state. Gone from the senate after January 1, would be the veteran independent, George Norris of Nebraska, as well as Democratic Senators Brown of Michigan, Herring of Iowa, Lee of Oklahoma, Smathers of New Jersey and Schwarz of Wyoming.

SOLOMONS:

Tailspins for Japs

Heartening was Vice Admiral William F. Halsey's report that 520 Japanese planes had been shot down thus far in the Solomons by navy, army and marine pilots. American losses, the commander reported, had been comparatively light.

Meanwhile, with Jap naval concentrations withdrawn from the Guadalcanal area after air and sea engagements with the American fleet, ground fighting was comparatively light.

Marines and U. S. army units did, however, push the Jap invaders several miles back from strategic Henderson air field. Big guns of naval vessels subjected Jap mountain strongholds to heavy bombardment.

Although Round 1 of the crucial engagements for the Solomons' control was settled in favor of the American defenders, Secretary of Navy Frank Knox warned the nation not to be overoptimistic, predicting that the Japs would come back for more.

HULL:

Backs Vichy Policy

More verbal brickbats have been hurled at the state department for its handling of relations with Vichy France than for any other diplomatic policy. But through thick and thin, grave-faced Secretary of State Cordell Hull has stuck to his guns in continuing recognition of Marshal Petain's regime.

Latest evidence that Mr. Hull intended to continue that policy and had President Roosevelt's backing came in the form of an assertion that the "State department and the administration are entirely satisfied with the government's policy toward Vichy France and the way that policy has been pursued."

Mr. Hull's remark was in reply to a request that he comment on Wendell L. Willkie's recent statement that the administration's "lack of courageous leadership... nowhere is more plainly illustrated than by its continued recognition of the vicious and subversive Vichy government."

RUSSIAN FRONT:

Trans-Caucasia Next?

Balked at Stalingrad and on the defensive in the northwest as the bitter Russian winter swirled down from the steppes of the Don, the Nazi command had shifted its main operations southward to the Caucasus. Here Hitler's generals relied on a strategic device that had served them well in the past—that of concentrating overwhelming force at one single objective. That objective was Ordzhonikidze on the Georgian military road leading south through the Caucasus mountains. Russian defenses stiffened and slowed down.

The Nazi thrust first forced a Russian withdrawal from Nalchik, 60 miles northwest of Ordzhonikidze. It was estimated that 50,000 German and Rumanian mountain infantry, armored troops and tank detachments had then edged toward the snow-sheathed Caucasus mountains.

The Nazis' goal of the strategic Georgian highway from Ordzhonikidze to Tiflis would give them a rapid entry to the oil fields of Trans-Caucasia and bring them menacingly close to the Turkish border and the Middle East.

Elsewhere in the Caucasus the Nazis were reported on the defensive. Pravda, the Communist party newspaper estimated that 38,000 Germans had been killed, wounded or captured in September and October during their vain effort to break through the Moxdok region—an offensive succeeded by the flanking drive toward the Georgian military highway.

DOCTOR SHORTAGE:

Senate Seeks Remedy

Even as senate leaders sought a solution to the war-depleted supply of doctors, Paul De Kruif, author and scientist warned that the nation's health might be threatened by the indiscriminate draining of medical men from private practice into the armed forces.

Under consideration was a plan to create a federal agency empowered to freeze doctors in their civilian status, order them to areas where shortages exist or draft them for military service.

Rural areas face the most acute shortage because so many doctors in these regions are entering military service, according to Dr. Frank Leahy, national chairman of the Central Board of Procurement and Assignment.

Surgeon General Thomas Parran of the United States Public Health service went on record as opposed to compulsory assignment of doctors at present. "We may have to come to it eventually to alleviate the serious depletion of doctors in many areas," he said, "but I am not now prepared to recommend it."

MISCELLANY:

WASHINGTON: The five-cent cigar was added to the list of war victims with the announcement by the Office of Price Administration that the ceiling price on nickel cigarettes would be six cents hereafter. Increases averaging 20 per cent in retail prices of all cigars were allowed by OPA to cover higher wartime excise taxes and increased costs of labor and production.

Record War Bond Sales Is Goal Of Women At War Week Nov. 22

WASHINGTON, D. C.—America's women in the cities and on the farms—in war factories and in their homes—are determined to make Women At War Week the greatest War Bond selling effort since Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt sounded the keynote for the Treasury Department's Women At War Week, Nov. 22 to 28, with an appeal to women to save on "little things" to provide money for War Bonds.

"We women want to work hard, we want to be a part of this strenuous period because unless we are, we will not be able to face the men when they return and claim our share of the future responsibility for building a peaceful world," the First Lady declared.

The overall direction of Women At War Week rests with the Women's Section of the War Savings Staff under the leadership of Miss Harriet Elliott, Associate Field Director, and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Chief of the Special Activities Unit.

From coast to coast women in every community have made plans for torchlight parades, fashion shows, teas, rallies, store window displays, Stamp and Bond booths, pageants, civic sings, balls and mardi gras. In each locality administration of the one week drive rests with the local War Savings Committee which has worked out activities adapted to their areas.

Mrs. Morgenthau, in a special message for Women At War Week, declared that the spirit of America's pioneer women lives today more strongly than ever. "The average American woman began to rise to new heights on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941," Mrs. Morgenthau said. "This winter the average American woman will be spending less in order to save more to invest in War Bonds and Stamps. She will not, please God, ever have to fire a gun or fly a bomber. But she will, please God, always do everything she can to help buy anything—and the best of everything—that fires or flies or floats in this terrible war."

During Women At War Week volunteer War Bond saleswomen will wear an armband similar to the one being attached to the sleeve of Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., by Miss Harriet Elliott.

WOMEN AT WAR—Overall, wrenches and drills replace fineries as these war workers in an Army Arsenal march in tank repair shops. Note the determination on their faces. These women are typical of hundreds of thousands who are working in war factories and investing part of their earnings in War Bonds.

Mrs. Roosevelt (left) says women help men at front by buying War Bonds. At right is the armband which volunteers will wear during Women At War Week, Nov. 22 to 28.

Ev'rybody Ev'ry Pay Day

6,000,000 Women Enrolled in War Savings Payroll Plan.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Women At War Week, opening Nov. 22, during which women will seek to sell the greatest single week's volume of War Bonds and Stamps will serve to put the spotlight on the mighty contribution women generally are making toward financing the war.

Six million women are on War Savings payroll plans. Their monthly deductions total $70,000,000.

The customers of 300,000 newspaper boys who have sold more than $50,000,000 in War Bonds and Stamps are mostly women.

Volunteer saleswomen run nearly all the Bond booths in theaters from Maine to California. They also are sparking the War Bond sales in retail stores.

Ralph G. Engelman, Associate Field Director of the payroll savings section of the War Savings Staff, readily admits that without the support of women the phenomenal record of payroll savings enrollments would not have been achieved. Payroll savings plans are now in operation in 148,000 businesses and factories. Employees of twenty-five thousand of these firms are contributing at least 10 percent of gross payrolls into War Bonds every pay day.

Associate Field Director Engelman says that women have contributed directly and indirectly toward this record. When a man devoted 10 or more percent of his pay envelope to War Bonds, the woman at home has had a powerful voice in the decision. Her planning, her economies and her cheerfulness play their part in the success of payroll savings.

The Treasury Department is counting upon this woman influence in its current campaign to "top that 10 percent by New Year's." By the first of the year the Treasury hopes to enroll at least 3,000,000 women workers in a pay-

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for November 15

THINGS THAT MAR FAMILY LIFE

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 27:30-35; Mal. 2:1, 2; Luke 12:13-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ.—Galatians 6:2.

Home is what you make it. Oh, yes, there may be circumstances which hinder us from doing what we would like—such as poverty, illness, unemployment, etc. These are things we cannot control and, certainly they do have a bearing. But man or woman when of the right spirit can triumph over such matters and make even the poorest home the gateway to heaven. It is a matter of the attitude of heart and mind. Our lesson then is very practical, for it deals with those sins which mar family life.

Whatever our circumstances may be, we can and must turn away from sin—and in this case, the sins which hinder the home from being what it ought to be. God has provided victory over sin through Christ for all who believe in Him.

What then are the sins which stand as the enemies of the home?

I. Deceit (Gen. 27:30-35).

Whatever the circumstances of the home may be, there can be absolute honesty and candor in the dealings between members of the family.

Our recent study of the story of Jacob and Esau showed us the sad consequences of the deceit practiced by Jacob and his mother in defrauding Esau. Many elements entered in, the favoritism of the mother toward one son, the envy that the brother had of his elder brother's birthright, the wicked scheming of mother and son to outwit the aged father—all a very distressing picture of a home shot through with deceitfulness. To build anything of permanent value on such a foundation was quite impossible.

The family in which deceitful means are used by husband or wife to gain some advantage for self or a favored child is heading for the rocks and needs to turn about and get into the channel of truth and uprightness before it is too late.

II. Divorce (Matt. 5:31, 32).

One of the most destructive elements of modern life is that of divorce. Terrifying statistics could be quoted, but they are not nearly as moving as the knowledge most of us have of broken homes, delinquent children, decadent morals, etc., ad nauseam. The victims of this deadly evil are primarily the children who are sent on into life with disordered minds and hearts.

Jesus declared that the decree of divorce allowed by Moses was not an abrogation of God's original law in this matter. Because of the "hardness of their hearts" (Mark 10:4) Moses permitted it, but the standard of God was and (quote this please!) is unchanged.

Marriage, as we saw in our lesson of November 1, is God's plan for the perfect union of the man and woman whereby the two become one in the sight of God. That means that the tie is not one to be dissolved at will or on some purely legal ground; it is an inseparable union.

The only exception recognized by Scripture (v. 32) is that act of unfaithfulness which is such a breach of the holy union as to virtually destroy it. Perhaps it might be called a recognition of the breaking of the union rather than an exception. Adultery is a heinous sin, an extremely serious violation of God's law. Let us press that fact home today when it is so lightly regarded in our sinful generation.

III. Desire (Luke 12:13-15).

Money is necessary and may be a blessing, but the "love of money is the root of all evil" (1 Tim. 6:10). That is not just a verse in the Bible. It is the true picture of the thing which has destroyed the happiness of millions.

Here was a quarrel over an inheritance, and in meeting it our Lord laid down a principle which would solve all the money quarrels in every home—and they are endless in number and great in bitter destructiveness.

Man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" (v. 15). Write it large over the minds and hearts of the boys and girls in our homes. Let it control in the attitude of father and mother toward money. It will solve not only the money problems of the home, but will send the children forth into life with a foundation philosophy that will bless them to the end of their days.

Notice verse 14. It is the desire for money that most often makes man desire to be a judge over his brother. The big eyes of envy cause him to look with bitter desire upon what his brother has and he wants. The fine principle of sharing the family's possessions would do much to knit the home into a unit—happy, strong and useful to both God and man. The point is to say "ours" rather than "mine," and to ask, "What can we do?" not, "What can I get?"

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 8.

The Golden Text was, "As by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous" (Romans 5:19).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord; and he delighteth in his way. Though he fall, he shall not be utterly cast down; for the Lord upholdeth him with his hand. The law of his God is in his heart; none of his steps shall slide" (Psalms 37:23, 24, 31).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life is, always has been, and ever will be independent of matter; for Life is God, and man is the idea of God, not formed materially but spiritually, and not subject to decay and dust. The great truth in the Science of being, that the real man was, is, and ever shall be perfect, is incontrovertible; for if man is the image, reflection, of God, he is neither inverted nor subverted, but upright and Godlike" (p. 260).

Mrs. Petty to Be Hostess to Antioch Woman's Club

The November meeting of the Antioch Woman's club will be held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Petty Monday, Nov. 16, at 2 o'clock. The speaker of the afternoon will be Mrs. Charles A. Gordon of the Gordon's Natural Foods Store, Kenosha. The subject will be "Health via Natural Foods," a most timely one, as a knowledge of proper nutrition is one of the ways in which the home-maker can serve her family and incidentally her country.

Mrs. Gordon has been a resident of Kenosha for the past twenty-five years. The Gordon's Natural Foods Store has been located in Kenosha the past four years. During these four years Mrs. Gordon has conducted classes in nutrition during the winter months. She received her nutrition training through five years of study with the internationally famous nutritionist, Gaylord Hauser. She has also studied with Mrs. Peterson of the Chicago Nutrition school. For five years she was dietitian at the Bluebird Camp for boys and girls. Her lecture will be accompanied with a demonstration of health salads and different ways of fixing nutritious meals and meatless meals.

Hostesses assisting Mrs. Petty will be Mrs. Ralph Clabaugh, Mrs. Melvin Stillson and Mrs. Joseph Horton.

'We Are Attacked'

MARSHAL HENRI PETAIN. Rejecting President Roosevelt's plea that the French should not "obstruct" American and British military action in North Africa, Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, chief of state in Vichy, France, stated that "France and her honor are at stake. We are attacked and we shall defend ourselves."

Work Or Fight

"Sooner or later we will have to come to it," This was the assertion of Donald M. Nelson as he appeared before the Senate military affairs subcommittee hard at work on its study of the manpower mobilization problem. The statement referred directly to the possibility of a national selective service rule whereby every citizen would be required to either work or fight.

Nelson urged a longer work week and better management to increase productivity.

In these views Nelson found the committee to be in agreement. Also they concurred with the view expressed by the President at his press conference that further study will be necessary before definite recommendations on such legislation can be forthcoming. But the President made it plain that he would oppose any extension of working hours that would interfere with efficiency. He indicated that a work week of about 48 hours was desirable.

While the situation did not yet appear to be critical (except in dairying and other agricultural pursuits), the manpower problem will get more serious as time goes on and more men are drafted into the armed services. Right now, said the President he did not know any factories shut down due to a shortage of manpower.

In many rural communities U. S. citizens were worried about what was going to happen in the spring when another crop must be planted. For now, with harvest ended many farm and small town youths (who had temporary deferments) were off to the wars.

Wage Freeze Called 'Tough'

Only in "exceptional cases" will wage and salary increases be approved by the government, the War Labor Board announced in a far-reaching policy statement which virtually freezes wages and salaries of $5,000 and below at Sept. 15 levels. The WLB has control over all non-agricultural wages and over all salaries less than $5,000, other than salaries of supervisory or professional employees. The treasury department has jurisdiction over supervisory and professional salaries less than $5,000 and all salaries of more than $5,000. The secretary of agriculture has jurisdiction over farm wages.

Explaining the government's wage policy, William H. Davis, chairman of the WLB, said the "Little Steel" wage formula, permitting increases up to 15 per cent above Jan. 1, 1941, levels and heretofore applied by the board in all recent applications for increases, will be strictly interpreted.

"The board is laying down a policy which, we think, is pretty damn tough," Davis said. "We are going to authorize increases very, very sparingly and then only if it is conclusively shown that they are essential to the prosecution of the war."

He pointed out that because many employees already may be receiving wages higher than the prevailing scale for their industry, wages will not necessarily be raised 15 per cent to cover the increase in the cost of living since early 1941.

Their Silver Pilots Wings Have Sprouted

Fledgling fliers but a few months ago, this group of fully-grown Axis busters is ready for a crack at Hitler, Hirohito et al. The picture shows a group of graduates at Ellington Field, Texas, about to man their twin-engine advanced training planes. They received their silver pilot wings and commissions in the Army Air Forces Tuesday. Similar graduations took place simultaneously at the six other advanced schools in the Gulf Coast Army Air Forces Training Center.

"Another group of the finest air fighters in the world," commented Major General H. R. Harmon, training center commander, on graduation eve.

Among the graduates was Lieut. Robert A. Brogan of Antioch, who earned his wings at Lubbock Field.

BUY WAR BONDS

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

It is imperative that the ship lanes be kept free of ice. With American troops occupying Iceland and the Navy using the northern route for transportation of supplies to Russia, ice breakers are essential to Naval operations. The ice breaker is a specially constructed ship with heavily armored bows and powerful engines that crush the ice floes rather than ram through them.

Ice breakers of the Kiekapoo class operating in the North Atlantic cost approximately $10,000,000. You can help our Navy build these ships by investing at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every payday. Enroll in the payroll savings plan or apply at the nearest bank or postoffice. U. S. Treasury Department

A pelorus, used by the Navy, is a device which fits over the surface of a compass to enable the operator to take bearings on distant objects. It has split hair sights, has been in use for many years... and costs approximately $125.

These instruments are essential equipment to every American ship which comes out of the shipyards. With the scores of ships now being completed each month, we need many of these instruments. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps will help pay for them. Invest at least ten percent of your income every payday in these interest-bearing Government securities. U. S. Treasury Department

Illi Students Do Their Part In War Effort

University of Illinois students are doing their part in America's war effort both by classroom training to prepare them for posts on the military and industrial fronts, and by extra-curricular activities on the campus.

Fourteen new courses to prepare students for war work and acquaint them with special problems of the war and post-war periods are being presented this semester.

"In addition," Provost A. J. Harno points out, "many regular courses have war values. All significant phases of the ideas and practices of the nation at war are directly represented in the several departments of the University."

Nearly a thousand students are enrolled in the emergency war courses. Two hundred men are studying the organization and operation of the Army Quartermaster Corps. One hundred women and 75 men are studying first aid, and 22 women pursuing nurse's aid training. Military law and defense legislation is being studied by more than 150 students.

One hundred fifty are enrolled in a course dealing with the background and problems of the war. Other new courses deal with Latin American Civilization, Chinese culture, wartime communications and censorship, military psychology, economic problems of defense and the post-war period, Army laboratory methods, and mathematics for the Navy.

Illinois students are war-active not only in the classrooms and laboratories, but also in extra-curricular activities. Two extra-curricular war projects—Red Cross bandage rolling and Red Cross knitting—were already under way when Japanese bombs fell on Pearl Harbor.

Many additional projects have been set up, among them training as watchman and guards, study of traffic control and safety, training in fire fighting, training in radio operation, instruction in use of non-military weapons, and keep fit activities.

To buy Defense Bonds, students have curtailed expenses at social functions, substituting radios or phonographs for orchestras at fraternity dances, eliminating decorations and flowers at social affairs, and instituting other economies.

U. of Ill. Pharmacy Freshmen Limited To 100 in Number

Freshmen enrollment in the University of Illinois College of Pharmacy will be limited to 100 starting this fall, Dean E. R. Series has announced. This college is the only pharmacist training institution in Illinois, and the limitation has been made to maintain high standards in the profession in this state, the dean said.

The enrollment limitation will be on a basis of high school scholarship and character. "Personality and character of a prospective pharmacist student are fully as important as grades," the dean said, "because the ability to meet the public is an essential factor in the successful practice of pharmacy."

Only students in the upper 50 per cent of their high school classes will be considered, and the first 100 applicants will be accepted. The college offers four years of training. It is located at the Illinois Medical Center in Chicago, where pharmacy students have the advantage of close contact with students from the closely related fields of medicine and dentistry.

High School Teaching Offers Opportunities

A war-time shortage of school teachers offers opportunities for persons trained in that field, according to the University of Illinois College of Education. The University's Teacher Placement Committee reports that its last full year—1940-41—showed a 50 per cent increase in the number of openings, and that the calls for teachers are continuing to increase.

"The number of placements reached a record high, but the increase was not in proportion to the calls because many of the calls were in fields in which there was a shortage of candidates," according to Lewis W. Williams, chairman of the placement committee.

"Demand exceeded the supply in home economics, agriculture, commerce, industrial arts, men to teach band music, men to coach and teach mathematics or physical science, men to teach physical sciences, men to teach mathematics, and elementary school teachers."

"The demand for teachers of home economics, agriculture, and industrial arts was especially heavy and persistent. A number of high schools in the state have been compelled to drop their offerings in one or more of these fields because of inability to find qualified teachers."

The work and facilities of 881 state high schools are of sufficiently high standard to be included on the "accredited" list of the University of Illinois.

'Til Johnny Comes Marching Home

Antioch merchants are proud of their service flag—proud of the employees who have marched off from behind counter and bench to take places in the ranks of those defending our way of life. We are proud, too, of our employees still in the stores. We are NOT doing business as usual. We are doing business under war conditions—conditions that demand an extra measure of effort from every one of us at home.

You've noticed the ceiling prices of cost-of-living articles posted throughout the stores. We're just a wee bit proud of those signs. They were not easy to put up.

It took a great deal of extra work on the part of our personnel to mark our entire stock to conform to the prices we were charging last March. It took a great deal more to post those ceiling prices in every department. And it took the time and study of every clerk to learn how the Price Control Program works.

All this our employees did cheerfully. They were happy to cooperate—and we were happy to cooperate—with the Office of Price Administration in combating rising prices. It gave all of us an extra part to play in the war effort. Right now we're helping keep down the cost of this war and keep the home front stable. That aids our war production.

But even more, it links us to Johnny and his brothers who have marched off to war. That's important to those of us at home. It means we're keeping faith with the man on the battle lines. It means we are keeping things on an even keel until the cannons are moved to courthouse lawns and Johnny comes marching home.

War Production
and Electric Power
in Northern Illinois

Far behind the battlefields are the humming war plants which supply our armed forces with tanks, planes, ships and guns.

In this great war-production program... the cutting, welding, riveting and fitting of war machines... electricity is providing vital power needed for record breaking speed.

Maintaining this constant flow of electrical energy to the war plants of Northern Illinois is an assignment to which our facilities are devoted until final victory on the land, on the sea and in the air.

The modern General Electric tanks are electrically welded for strength. The result is a streamlined unit of fighting power for America's armed forces.

Electrically operated production lines keep a steady flow of steel fighting power constantly on the move toward completion.

Each a 28-ton mass of steel, power and speed, these tanks are mounted on flat cars, ready to leave for the fighting fronts.

SEQUOIT NEWS

Edited by Students of Antioch Township High School

Antioch Quint Drills
For 14-Game SeasonSequoit Basketeers to Open with Waukegan High
November 17

Coach C. A. Wolfenbarger, fresh from a successful football season, as Northwest Conference champions, was driving his fighting Sequoits through preliminary basketball drill this week and optimistically looking forward to a successful season in the cage sport also. The Sequoits will open their current campaign at Waukegan against Coach Brown's men.

The Sequoits this year won't be rangy, only Dale Barnstable stands six feet, but the team should develop, and judging from the Antioch team of last year, which finished second in the Northwest conference can be expected to develop an undaunted fighting spirit with a definite will to win.

The Antioch mentor was somewhat puzzled when only 19 players reported for practice the opening night, but Wolfenbarger is the type of a coach who has the ability to get the most out of his charges and his record in football this year is a fair indication of this. Among the nineteen old candidates reporting for practice six are letter men: Dale Barnstable, Jack Fields, Dick Kaufman, Bill Effinger, Tom Brett, and Clarence Dressel. However Wolfenbarger said that none of these hold-overs are assured of a starting berth on the current squad except Barnstable and Fields. He reports that there are several likely looking candidates from last year's reserves in Louis Nielsen, and Earle Brisen, also new in basketball to the Antioch squad will be off. Arnold Bolton and Junior and Norman Wilhelm, 6' 4".

As usual the Sequoits will be faced with a tough schedule because the Antioch mentor says: "This is no time to quit." After all, our schools are supposed to be operated for the benefit of the students, and federal authorities have repeatedly emphasized the importance of a rugged athletic program in providing the proper foundation for the high school youth in preparing them for future military duties, and the Antioch High School and community are going to try to operate under the new transportation difficulties because a restricted program is better than none at all and it is of vital importance to the welfare of all that the spirit of competition be kept alive.

Gigantic Task in Handling Yule Mail

The Post Office Department now is starting the most gigantic task in its history—the movement of a deluge of Christmas parcels, cards and letters while maintaining the regular flow of millions of pieces of mail daily to and from our armed forces all over the world.

Indications are that the volume of Christmas mail will be the largest on record. If thousands of our soldiers, sailors, marines and civilian friends are not to be disappointed at Christmas time, the public must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever before and by addressing letters and parcels properly.

About 25,000 experienced postal workers already have been taken by the war services. Arrangements are under way to add thousands of temporary personnel to postal staffs, but this man power is hard to find and is inexperienced. Facilities of railroads and air lines are heavily taxed by movements of huge quantities of war materials and personnel. Extra trucks are almost impossible to obtain. Winter weather, hampering transportation, is beginning.

30% Increase
The free-mailing privilege granted to members of the armed forces has raised their mailings some 30 per cent, it is estimated. Expansion of those forces also is adding rapidly to the postal burden.

The deadline already is past for mailing gifts to Army and Navy personnel overseas, with assurance that the parcels will arrive by Christmas. The New York post office reports that in late October 350,000 such parcels were handled daily in that office alone.

The Post Office Department is making strenuous efforts to avoid such a terrific jam as it faced in 1918 under similar conditions, during the First World War. It can succeed in those efforts—and avoid many heartaches for its patrons—if the public will cooperate by mailing early.
